SATURDAY, SEPT. 14, 1878.

There has been a great increase in the shipments of leather from New York to Europe recently. Since the 1st of last January the exports have amounted to 785,000 sides. The value of the annual shipments from that port is now over $4,000,000.

Thurman gets a hard slap from Senator Bayard, whom the Times, of Smyrna, Del., credits as saying that "the demand for the abolition of the national banks, like the war on the railroads and labor-saving machinery, has its origin in communism, the tendency of which is destruction, sure and inevitable." Mr. Thurman is a communist, then, as well as a turncoat.—New Republic.

Mr. Murch, the Greenbacker, who is to rattle round in Mr. Hale's seat in Congress, boasted, when he was nominated that he had never received much education, and had not a dollar in the world.—He is simply a shiftless laborer and a striker, whose first success is an election to Congress. This is the sort of victory the Democratic editor is holding a jubilee over.—N. Y. Tribune.

If there are any Massachusetts Democrats surviving who are afflicted with notions of political consistency, it will now be advisable for them to recall all the endearing epithets which they have applied to General Butler or to take an inventory of all the shames and crimes with which they have charged him under oath or affirmation during the past sixteen years. These would be unpleasant things for the allies of Solid South to remember when they are about selecting the General as their gonfalonier.

The Troy N. Y. Times pays a just tribute to Hon. Eugene Hale as a public man, saying that "since the elevation of Mr. Blaine to the Senate, with the possible exception of General Garfield, he has probably exercised a large measure of influence in the popular branch of Congress than any man upon the Republican side." It adds: "The defeat of such a man, of course, is only temporary. Mr. Hale has such rare adaptation to public service, and his public and private character is so high, that there is no danger his retirement will be permanent."

The Standard rejoicing over the Maine election and the utter annihilation of the Democratic party, displaying its roosters, cannon, etc., is a good deal like a prize-fighter with eyes punched out, nose broken, fingers unjointed, ribs stove in, and the body mashed generally, rejoicing over his opponent who has received only a few scratches and bruises, and who is ready to give him a regular old-fashioned "side-winder," straight from the hard money-shoulder if he shows his hateful head again before throwing up the sponge.—Kennebec Journal.

Jay Gould, on being notified that a gang of desperadoes intended to make a raid on the Union Pacific trains for purposes of robbery, went to Washington to secure the protection of the troops. He found no one in authority to act. He called at the White House and the President was absent; at the War Department, and Secretary McCrary was gone; at the Postoffice Department, and Judge Key and Acting Postmaster General Tyner were both away. The General of the Army was also absent. He saw Secretary Sherman, who said he thought the military could be used. Gould immediately telegraphed to Clarke of the Union Pacific road to see Secretary McCrary in Iowa and endeavor to make some arrangements.

FREDERICK the Great's maxim that Austrian troops should be attacked "insolently," might seem to have inspired the audacious raid of the Bosnians across the Austrian border at the very moment when General Philippovich was pluming himself upon having them completely in his power. Indeed, the bare fact of such an attempt having been made, even though unsuccessfully, is an ample proof how little these desperadoes are dismayed by their recent losses, or by the vast numbers arrayed against them. The massacre of Mehemet Ali and his colleagues, the recent plot to make Serajevo a second Moscow by burning it over the heads of its Austrian occupants, the mutilation of the slain and wounded, show that the war is indeed a struggle to the death. How well the intervention of the Albanians has served the Bosnian cause may be seen by Gen. Zach's retreat from Bihacs, and the formidable cordon formed in the northeast by the fortified posts of Belina, Zwornik, Tuzla, and Toly. The formation of such a line of defense, garrisoned by 36,000 men and forty cannon, augurs ill for Austria so near the close of such a campaign, and the 45,000 Arnauts mustered along the southern frontier of Bosnia, even if unsupported by the Turkish infantry that are threatening to join them, will make the conquest of the Novi-Bazar district anything but an easy matter.

COMMUNISTIC REJOICINGS.

On the evening of election day the supporters of Murch, the striking Communist, held a "congratulatory meeting" in Belfast, and of the meeting and the sentiments expressed, the Progressive Age, which supported him, can find nothing better to say than that "There were some things which occurred at the congratulatory meeting at Hayford Hall, Monday evening, which we very much regretted to see. We think that Mr. Chairman Jewett should have been more mindful of the proprieties of the occasion and the audience than to turn it into a powwow. The audience was composed of respectable men from most of our county towns who came to hear the news; ladies were also present; but the hooting of the chairman and of the boys would have tended to show that a parcel of wild savages had come together. Then the denunciation by the chairman of the Republicans as thieves, villains and rogues, and his calling upon the band to play 'The Rogue's March' was offensive in the highest degree and becoming only to Communist Kearney. The men we have beaten in this county are wrong in their principles, as we believe, but they are respectable and are entitled to be treated with respect, and we shall only weaken ourselves by conducting low blackguardly abuse of them.

Another thing we regretted was the seeming attempt to appropriate the result in the county to the democratic party exclusively, and to turn the sentiment in that direction for 1880. Nobody of Republican antecedents was called upon the platform and given an opportunity to speak. It seems to us that, in our meetings the aim should be to have all treated with equal consideration; men of Republican antecedents and Democratic antecedents, early comers and late comers, so that all may feel at home. It seemed to us a little invidious for a speaker to particularize the gentleman elected as Democrats with a single exception, and our candidate for Congress a life-long Democrat, and the chairman individually, as it seemed to us, claiming in that the Republicans aided to elect them."

THE ELECTION.

[From the Belfast Journal.]

The Democratic party of Maine has disappeared, swallowed by the new Greenback organization, which will digest it at leisure. A faithful and honored few have stood for principle, and declined to forsake the lessons they learned from their fathers, and which were derived from the hard school of experience. These will find the justification in the near future.

There is one thing which must be apparent to those who have been active in entering into prominence and almost into entire victory the Greenback scheme—these, we mean, who have been its brains and organizing force—and that is that their plan must be wholly impracticable. They have played upon the credulity and ignorance of the unthinking, led them on a wild chase after impossibilities, under the delusion that they would be immediately and certainly realized—while the schemers have had their eyes steadily fixed on official positions and profitable places for themselves. These men, we say, know better than to preach the delusions that they do concerning finance. They know that the experience of the race, the history of governments, and the maxims of all financiers, utterly condemn the wild vagaries of irredeemable paper currency, and the inflated balloons of rag money. Out of this grows the hope that the more prudent among them may, for their own credit and security, if from no higher motive, be able to control their followers to something like reason and justice. The blind fol owing of such lead, aided by old party hatreds, have affiliated with the Greenbackers many Democrats who have been credited with sounder sense than an adhesion to that which denounces the old corner stone of Democracy—a currency based on specie redemption.

This class of men cannot fail to perceive that all who 'abide in the ship' must of necessity share her fortunes. The natural measures must alike work injury to all, the healthful reach out their benefits to each, and the average sentiment of the country guide all. Whatever of bane or blessing they afford, that they must partake of. Let us hope that the sober second thought of the more intelligent in these matters may be to some extent rallied upon to neutralize the worst of that which will threaten should the example of Maine prove contagious.

But between us and the relinquishment of the designs of the extremists, there lies the intelligence and conscience of the American public—of the people of great, powerful and wealthy States, whose leading and controlling minds will be awake to the danger, and prepared to meet it. Time is a certain cure for the evils of the body politic—and violent diseases have a short run. Our older citizens will remember the great overturn in Maine in 1840, which in many of its features resembled the present one. There was the same voting for a change, because times were hard, and a change could be no worse; the same outcry against banks; the same prejudice against those who had accumulated property. The State unexpectedly and thoroughly turned out the Democrats, and placed the Whigs in power. And yet at the very next election the people, finding that the change had brought no relief, turned out the Whigs and reinstated the Democrats by a larger majority than before. So in 1854 the Know Nothing party sprang up as it were in a night, carried the State by 90,000, and in two years disappeared as completely as though it had never existed.

While it is difficult to predict what shape the new party may take, or what combinations it may make, we feel certain that its leading principle, of a baseless paper currency, will be as short lived as it is delusive.

* * * *

In conclusion let us say that the friends of sound currency will bide their time. They can well afford to. Right is not the less right because it is for a time overborne. Even in Solomon's day there were those, each "wiser in his own conceit than seven men that can render a reason." Retribution will surely come, when through ignorance or folly the eternal laws which govern finance are violated. Though bonfires blaze, and brass bands crash, and excited crowds shout, the reflecting man knows that there will follow, fast and sure, that which will be neither gladness nor rejoicing.

THE CONTEST IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

[From the Boston Journal.]

Both of the old parties have held their conventions in New Hampshire, and have announced the political principles upon which they propose to make the battle. The Republican Convention assembled the day following the unfavorable result in Maine. It was a time when men who make all principles of politics subordinate to success, and give out uncertain and vague utterance. Not so the Republicans of New Hampshire. The committee on resolutions reported an admirable resolution on the currency question, taking high and unequivocal grounds, declaring for an honest dollar and for the keeping of the national faith. The Convention adopted that resolution with nearly unanimity, no member having that impudence, which, by a contradiction of terms, may be defined as the hardihood of cowardice to advise the abandonment of Republican principles to achieve possible success, as was the case in the Democratic Convention. New Hampshire Republicanism has always been of the most positive character. Their political faith has been so honestly declared that no man has found it necessary to read their platform twice to get its meaning. They make no change this year. Defeat may come, but recreant to right they will not be. The Republicans of new Hampshire are to be congratulated. They enter a sharp canvass, not backed by the courage which comes of deep conviction, they will make a gallant fight and doubtless win a victory. They will at least make a desperate fight for it.

[From the Providence Journal.]

The response of the Republicans of New Hampshire, in State Convention assembled to the news from Maine, was clear, bold, defiant, as it was prompt. To the popular craze in Maine The Republicans of the Granite State yield not a jot nor title. The platform is distinct, it is sound and it comprises all the issues. Upon that of currency nothing more need, and nothing better could be said. Our pledges made in the hour of national peril are to be redeemed according to the letter and spirit of the law. The currency is to be constitutional, and therefore it sound and safe one. If this is nothing more than was to have been expected, it comes nevertheless in good time. If any Republicans anywhere have been inclined to silence as to financial issues; if they have been willing to see that done which they would not do themselves; if they have, without endorsing, yet without disheartening, heard the proposition for that inflation which means repudiation, let them review their position. The Republican party to-day stands for and is the bulwark not simply of national honesty, but of national peace and safety. The standard of justice and integrity must not be trailed. It needs the strength of the party to uphold it. The results in Maine will be, probably, that the Republicans will be more united, that the Democratic party will be more or less disintegrated, and that it will need it a union of all Conservative men to maintain the honor of the government, and the tolerable welfare, not to say the prosperity, of the people.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

HORRIBLE CONDITION OF MEMPHIS.

REPORTS FROM VARIOUS CITIES.

A Physician's Report of the Awful Situation in Memphis.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. The Post publishes the following: Dr Ramsey who went to Memphis with nurses has returned. He says when five miles from Memphis we began to smell the putrid stench which sickening. Dr. Pease and myself went to the Peabody Hotel, the only one open, and were shown into a room from which a dead body had been removed. Vessels with sheets wet with carbolic acid and the bed clothes not changed. The hotel itself is a perfect pest house. Sulphur pans are kept burning in the halls and the bedding constantly disinfected; but they cannot get help enough to do one half what ought to be done. Commerce has ceased and business of every kind is suspended. Even saloons for the most part are closed, and the provision stores are empty. The great need seems to be provisions, clothing, physicians, money, nurses and medicines about in the order named. The best thing is to send plenty of provisions and clothing. The negroes and many whites from 15 miles around have flocked in, hearing they could get something to eat. Hundreds are going about the streets especially colored women with hardly anything on. The sights are distressing. So far no serious out-break has occurred, but the better classes are in constant terror of riot, as the city is in the hands of the colored police altogether, and while they behave very well, there is still a lurking fear of some additional evil from this source.

The Death Rate.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 13. Last night was cool, but this morning the sun is out warm again. There is no decrease in the death rate. The undertakers report 50 deaths at noon, and 113 since noon yesterday. There is great difficulty in arriving at the number of new cases, as physicians are negligent about making reports. The opinion prevails with some physicians that since the late cool weather there will be fewer new cases and the attacks not so virulent. 13 cases at Somerville, and the town is depopulated.

One Death in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. Henrietta Tobey died here to-day from what physicians say yellow fever modified by climatic influences. She was formerly from Maine, but came here from Memphis where her husband died recently.

Four in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, MO, Sept. 13. Quite a heavy frost occurred in this vicinity Wednesday night, and the temperature is now favorable for a still heavier. Whatever apprehension may have prevailed as to yellow fever raging here is now removed. The Merchants' Exchange fever relief fund amounts to $31,500, and from other sources $15,590.

Terrible Condition at Canton, Miss.

CANTON, Miss., Sept. 13. Our worst fears have been realized, the cold winds and heavy atmosphere of the past two days having had a most disastrous effect. The new cases the past twenty-four hours number 36 and deaths 4.

The Record at Baton Rouge.

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 13. Fifty or sixty new cases for the last 24 hours are reported and this forenoon and three deaths from fever. Father Lavat, a Catholic priest, Philipe Machel, Esq., Vice Consul of France are sick. The weather is cold but no frost.

The Excitement in Cairo.

CAIRO, Sept. 13. The excitement over the two cases of fever yesterday has nearly subsided. Mulkey died this forenoon. He was promptly buried and the premises thoroughly disinfected.

From Various Places.

A fever closely resembling yellow fever has broken out at Dry Grove, Miss., and a physician is called for, the doctors there being sick.

The fever is on the increase and very fatal at Holly Springs. Dr. Saylor is sick and three doctors are called for.

Gov. Stone has appointed Friday, Sept. 20th, a day of prayer to God that the terrible infection be withdrawn from the people of Mississippi, and health and peace be restored to the mourning holds.

The Doctors predict a decline in the death rate at New Orleans after this week.

There are thirteen cases of yellow fever in the infected district of Gallipolis, Ill. No new cases and no deaths have been reported for two days.

WASHINGTON.

Effect of the Greenback Crate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. Washington specials state that Secretary Sherman says that the effect of the Greenback agitation will be to interrupt all plans for resumption. Ex-State Treasurer Cardozo, of South Carolina, is acting as first clerk in the Treasury Department.

The Cotton Crop.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. According to September returns to Department of Agriculture the condition of the cotton crop averages 90, against 95 in August, 1878, and 86 in September, 1877. The decline in condition is not greater than usual and still leaves a high average vitality to meet the vicissitudes of autumn.

The Public Debt.

The Secretary of the Treasury has had an analysis of the public debt of the United States made showing its condition from July 1st, 1869 to July 1st, 1878.

In 1869 the interest-bearing debt was $61,512,231.88; cash in the Treasury $4,877,833.67; population of the United States, 41,443,321; the debt per capita $1.31; interest per capita 0.11.

In 1878 the outstanding principal of the public debt was $2,256,205,892.59; cash in the Treasury $256,323,692.08, population of the United States 47,065,000; debt per capita $41.67; interest per capita $1.67; debt on which interest had ceased in 1860 was $301,449.77, while in 1878 the debt on which interest had ceased was $6,304,560.20.

The non interest bearing debt 1878 was $350,575,622.37. The total debt less cash in the Treasury in 1869 was $69,304,402.01, while in 1878 the debt less cash on hand was $1,099,382,380.45.

A GREAT STORM

AND THE DAMAGE FROM IT.

Reports from Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Elsewhere.

In Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13. One of the most terrific storms known in this vicinity prevailed all last night. The wind is now blowing a gale, but it has stopped raining. The Cleveland & Pittsburg Railroad lost several bridges and culverts.

The river rose twelve feet in the latter part of the night and is still rising and still raining. All the roads leading into the city are badly damaged. The water is 18 inches over the track of the Buffalo and Ohio Railroad west of Cambridge. There are no trains over the Cleveland and Pittsburg or Pittsburg, Wheeling and Kentucky roads since yesterday. There is a heavy washout at East Pawhandle bridge at Steubenville besides heavy damage at other points. There is heavy damage on the line of the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroads including the loss of three new iron bridges at Magee. The Pittsburg Wheeling and Kentucky Railroad is also badly washed. No trains are expected on the last two roads. No loss of life is reported.

The Damage in Pennsylvania.

ERIE, Sept. 13. The rapid rise last night in Mill Creek, a stream flowing thro' this city, carried away a house resting on the bank and drowned the inmates, James Dodworth, and a 16 years old daughter. The house was totally destroyed. Several mills, dams and barns back in the country were carried off and a number of bridges and culverts in this city. The damage is quite large and Railroad traffic is temporarily interrupted on all the roads centering here. Reports from all parts in this vicinity state the storm last night was one of the heaviest ever known. The damage to property is very great. Trains over the Erie Division of the Lake Shore were detained by damage from high water.

A Local Cyclone.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13. Reports from the surrounding country show that in some instances the storm assumed the proportions of a cyclone. In the southern portion of Chesterfield county the storm raged fearfully leaving havoc and destruction along its path. A number of houses are reported blown down and several persons injured by falling and flying timbers. Similar reports are received from Henrico and Hanover counties. A telegram received this afternoon from Lynchburg, states that the James river at that point has risen 13 feet, and is still rising at the rate of 13 inches an hour.

In New York.

COXSAKIE, N. Y., Sept. 14. There was a heavy gale and rain to-day. A new ice house in course of construction was blown down and the owner, Joseph Rea, killed.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Butler Delegates.

NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. The Times financial article says that there was no demand for silver Thursday. The tendency of the market at the close was weaker, about 65,000 pounds, offering during the afternoon, and this moderate supply coupled with a complete absence of inquiry threw the market into a very unsettled state.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The Secretary of the Treasury, after a careful examination of the law, has temporarily postponed the execution of the recent orders for exchange of silver dollars for United States notes and will thereafter pay out silver dollars on currency liabilities.

Coney Island, N. Y., was deserted yesterday. There was an unusually high sea but no serious damage.

The Russians are preparing to evacuate Erzeroum.

A fire at San Bernardino, California on Thursday, destroyed 18 business houses; total loss $100,000; insurance $35,000.

Col. J. Hammond, of Fulton, was nominated for Congress on the 176th ballot by the Democrats of the Fifth District of Georgia.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPT., OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—(1 A. M.)

Indications.

For New England: Clearing weather, warm southerly, veering to colder westerly winds, followed by rising barometer.

Cautionary signals continue at Eastport, section 7, Portland Boston, section 8, and Woods Holes. The rivers have risen four feet at Augusta, Ga., 13 at Pittsburg, and 16 at Lynchburg, Va.

FOREIGN NEWS.

TURKEY.

The Resistance to Austria From the Bosniacs.

LONDON, Sept. 13. A Vienna despatch says that although the recent announcements as to the intention of Gen. Phillipovitch to send back the envoy in consequence of the scarcity of fodder, had somewhat prepared the public mind, for a retrograde movement, yet the news that the headquarters are about to retire to Brod, has produced an almost bewildering effect. The announcement that Russia has asked Servia not to disband her troops, is unfavorably commented upon here.

A Pesth despatch says that there is much depression there in consequence of the determined resistance of the Bosnians. Hardly a family in Pesth but has some member in the army, and the list of killed and wounded lengthens daily.

Mr. Moody is thinking of starting a singing school in Brewer.

Prof. John Sewall returned to this city Thursday evening from his European trip.

The fall term of the Theological Seminary commences next Thursday, instead of Tuesday.

Charles P. Roberts, Esq., returned from Aroostook last evening and will remain in the city to-day.

Rev. Saml T. Sleeper, formerly of Aroostook, celebrated his silver wedding in Worcester, Mass., last Wednesday.

The patronage at the Fort Point Hotel has been very good this year, more than double, in fact, than that of last year.

Yesterday some Boston parties visited the Veazie Mills at Oldtown, with Mr. Taney with a view of purchasing the old iron.

Hon. Eugene Hale was at the Bangor House Thursday night. He returned to Ellsworth yesterday by private conveyance.

The Newport and Palmyra Farmers' Club will hold the second exhibition at Newport village, on the 25th and 26th of September.

The storm which has been predicted for this section reached here last evening at ten o'clock and the wind blowed very hard during the night.

As an evidence of the dryness of the weather, we saw yesterday, cows standing in the water up to their bodies as in the sultry days of June.

In another column H. N. Fairbanks has a word to say about the true cost of a Life Insurance Company, which will be of interest to the public.

The following Bangor horses will trot at the State Fair next week: "Bar gor Tom," entered by C. J. Hatch; "Abbot," J. B. Harriman; and "Anodyne," by S. Jennings.

Yesterday C. P. Nelson, Esq., left at this office a crab apple about six feet seven inches long which he raised in his garden on Kenduskeag Avenue, from a seed planted this season.

D. M. Howard, District Agent of the old Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, publishes a card in another column which will be of interest to persons desiring to insure their lives.

Thursday evening a boy about twelve years old, son of Mr. H. O. Keith, fell through the hatchway at Messrs Farris & Webb's stockhouse, on Hatch street, and broke one of his wrists.

This morning the sale of tickets for the Barnabee concert opens at Bugbee & Co's. The indications are that they will meet with a rapid sale and our citizens should call early and secure a good seat.

Last Thursday the steamer May Field experienced the roughest weather on her trip from Bar Harbor, that she has ever run it. The water was very rough, but under the skillful management of Capt. Barbour "she behaved like a lady."

The farmers of Abbot and vicinity will hold an Agricultural Cattle Show and Fair, on the grounds of Edwin Faunce, near the railroad crossing at Abbot village, on Wednesday, September 25th. Every effort will be made to make the Fair a success.

The Good Templars of Maine are contributing a fund for members of their Order in the South who are suffering from the yellow fever scourge. All contributions should be sent to Geo. E. Brackett, Secretary, Belfast. Several lodges have already responded.

The many friends in this city of Rev. S. L. Caldwell, D. D., formerly pastor of the First Baptist church, and now Professor in Newton Theological Seminary, will be pleased to learn that he has been elected President of Vassar College, a position for which he is eminently fitted.

A BIG YIELD OF PUMPKINS. The Gazette says: Mr. T. P. Sawyer, of Dexter, has left at our office a specimen of eleven splendid pumpkins which were raised this year from one seed. Their combined weight was 2½ pounds, and the length of the vine upon which they grew was 48 feet. Can any one truthfully tell a bigger pumpkin story than this?

THE HIGGINS POISONING CASE. The Press says: A despatch from Denver, Colorado, states that the Grand Jury has indicted Hiram F. Marston, formerly of Lewiston, for the murder of Edward B. Higgins, formerly of Boston, by poisoning. The trial will probably take place the present month, and the evidence against him is said to be of a damaging character.

We invite the attention of parents to the notice of the reopening of Miss S. F. Smith's Kindergarten, on Monday, at No. 1 Ohio street. Miss Smith's training and successful experience as a Kindergartener makes it certain that her school will be conducted in strict accordance with the principles laid down by Froebel the founder of the system. Close adherence to his rules and maxims have made Kindergarten exceedingly popular in most of the cities of the Union.

DOG FISH. The Belfast Journal says: "This fish, that rarely comes so far inland, was seen in this harbor last week, swimming about the wharves. Dog-fish are from three to four feet in length, of the shark species, and are very abundant on the fishing grounds off the coast of Maine and Massachusetts during the summer season. They are the pest of the fisherman, tearing his nets, stealing bait, devouring fish that have been caught on the trawls, and driving off the more valuable fish. They are taken in some localities for the oil which their livers contain, the carcasses being used for fattening swine and for manure. They will attack a person in the water as quickly as a shark, and if they are in our harbor and bay in any numbers, boys who go in swimming should be very careful not to get in contact with them."

"RICE'S SURPRISE PARTY." By referring to another column it will be seen that "Rice's Surprise Party" will give one of their pleasing entertainments in Horombega Hall next Thursday evening under the auspices of the Rackle Club. As his will be the only opportunity of seeing this Company during the season, they will probably be greeted with a large audience. Tickets will be on sale at Bugbee & Co's. next Monday. We find the following in the New York Times: The summer season at the Fifth Avenue Theatre was ushered upon last evening with the usual extravaganza entitled "Evangeline," and its performance offered great pleasure to a numerous assemblage. Mr. E. E. Rice's music is lively and funny. The text is rich in puns and local allusions. The acting was exceedingly brisk and good. Miss Lizzie Webster, as Gabriel, has much business which is very popular, and her speeches, songs, and dancing were heartily applauded. Miss Venie G. Chancey personated Evangeline with commendable sweetness and grace, and the other female roles were in competent hands. "Evangeline" was received with favor, and its vivacity endows it with strong claims, we should say, to longevity in New York.

ANNIVERSARY. To-morrow afternoon in City Hall, the Bangor Reform Club will observe the fourth anniversary of its organization; and it is the intention of members to make the occasion one of more than usual interest. In addition to short speeches by the reformers and ladies of the Crusade will be stirring remarks from such able speakers as are Hons. Bolton, Spear, Boyd, Preble and others of our city. Mr. McIntyre, Secretary of the Club, will probably present the annual report. Excellent singing will also count into a pleasing feature of the exercises. Let all citizens who would encourage the reformers lend their presence in goodly numbers. The hall will be tastefully decorated.

SUMMER RESORTS. An exchange says: "The liking for the seashore is growing rapidly up in our people, and far back in the interior they are catching the fever and securing cottages by the shores. It is not surprising, for as a compensation for our bleak winters we have summers which can be equalled nowhere else under the sun.—Professor E Hazard, who has worked on the Coast Survey from the Gulf of Mexico to Quoddy Head, remarked that when he struck the coast of Maine with its rocky shores and its forests, with their pointed outlines, he felt that it was the most romantic and beautiful part of the American shores; and yacht men seem to agree with him, for their cruising is almost always in this direction."

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH. Miss Lizzie, daughter of J. M. Haseltine, of Dexter, had a very narrow escape from serious injury one day last week. She was in the act of stepping from a carriage near her father's residence, when her foot slipped and she went down between the body of the wagon and the wheel, one of her limbs going through the spokes. The horse started, and in this condition she was dragged some distance, but she held to the wheel with all her might, and it is probably owing to this fact that she was not killed. She was finally rescued by people who happened to be near by. No bones were broken, but the knee joint was dislocated and badly wrenched. The patient is getting along quite well now.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT AT HALIFAX. The St. John News says: A shooting accident occurred at Halifax Thursday morning in which George Wells was instantly killed by Thos. Lawrence in Egan's gunsmith shop. Lawrence, who was working for Egan, picked up a gun that was left for repairs, put a cap on, and pointed it at Wells through a window that looks from one shop to the other, telling him he should shoot him. He pulled the trigger, when the gun went off, the contents striking Wells near the temple, killing him instantly. Lawrence says he did not know the gun was loaded. It had not been used since 1871. The men were fast friends. Lawrence was arrested and is now in charge of the police. Wells was a married man.

OBITUARY. It has become our sad duty to announce the death of another of our old and highly respected citizens, Hibbard Hayward, Esq., brother of Hon. Charles Hayward, who passed from this to another and better world yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, at the advanced age of seventy years and eleven months. Mr. Hayward was born in Readfield, Maine, and moved to this city in the year 1832, where he carried on trade. In 1836 he moved to Lincoln, where he was engaged in trade for about twenty years, and during his residence in that town he held several offices of public trust, transacting the business in a straightforward and faithful manner, and winning the high esteem of all his fellow-citizens. He returned to this city about the year 1850, where he has resided until the time of his death. He has been in poor health for many years, for which reason he has left his house but once a day for some time, until Monday last, when on account of his interest in the election he came out forenoon, afternoon, and evening; but no withstand this he appeared to be in his usual health that night. On Tuesday morning, however, he was suddenly taken with an attack of heart disease which resulted in his death as above stated. Mr. Hayward was a man of the strictest integrity and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. The funeral will occur at his late residence on First st., Sunday afternoon at half-past two o'clock.

THE BAND EXCURSION. The excursion of the Bangor Band to Fort Point yesterday was not a success, it by that term is meant a bright sunshiny day, a large crowd, and a handsome revenue for the benefit of the worthy band, for these conditions were precluded by the unfortunate change in the weather, so pouring Thursday and continuing yesterday morning with an overcast and threatening sky, backed up by the predictions of Old Prob. of a severe storm all along the coast, with danger signals from Kitty Hawk to Quoddy Head. But having postponed the excursion one day on account of the weather, and knowing that the clams were waiting and anxious to be eaten, the Band with good pluck, determined not to further postpone, but to take their chances and about one hundred of our good citizens took the chances with them, and at a few minutes past nine left the wharf on the barge Clifford, in tow of the tug Ralph Ross, while Ralph himself was on board to look after the interests of his charge. At Hampden a number were added to the list of excursionists, but the weather growing heavier Winterport and Bucksport failed to furnish their quota. If the leaden aspect of the sky caused any to feel blue, that feeling was dispelled by the excellent and enlivening music of the Band, and "all went merry as a marriage bell" till Fort Point was reached. While the clam-bake was being prepared by Capt. A. T. Palmer, and for which preparations had been made for three times the number present, the party occupied themselves as each saw fit, some in listening to the music of the Band from the balcony of the Waccumaleg Hotel, others in promenading, and in social chat, while still others sought with treacherous hook to woo the festive sculpin from his watery home. The weather still continuing bad,—is raining about as often as it didn't,—the proceeds of the "bake" were brought on board the barge and there partaken of with a relish, and with a capacity which would have done credit to a larger crowd. Returning to Bucksport it was decided to give up the proposed promenade concert and hop, and after a stop of half an hour the party started on their return home, where they arrived at about half-past eight. The passage up the river was as highly enjoyed as though all the elements were in harmony with the occasion, for with the charming music, and the delightful sensation of the dance, the time passed most pleasantly and all go quietly. There is no doubt but it was a bad day, in fact a miserable day, but like Mark Tapley who was always bound to be jolly under all circumstances, so were the excursionists of yesterday, who looking on the bright side of everything saw nothing in the trip but pleasure, and felt only sympathy for those who think away. As to the Bangor Band, they deserve the best of weather and the largest patronage for their excursions, and when they next have one may there two conditions be met to the fullest extent.

THE SUFFERERS BY THE HAIL. A correspondent of the Piscataquis Observer writes as follows in regard to the sufferers by the recent hail storm, which swept over a portion of that county with such disastrous results:

What shall be done for them? Certainly sympathy, active sympathy for those ought to be awakened by the statements published last week. Many of them cannot be entirely unharvested by the entire loss of their food-crops; while the most independent among them will feel this heavy blow. Can not those of us who were spared this sweeping visitation, cheerfully contribute, as has been done in other similar cases, to their relief? Many farmers, outside the line of hail, will harvest an usually large crop—the same kind of crops which the hail destroyed. Perhaps the yield above the ordinary harvest, if generously given to the destitute, would replace their loss. No one can know when some other calamity may be let loose, and who may be the smitten ones. Affliction should teach us our dependence upon God, and open each other, and call out humane and benevolent feeling and action. Ought not public meetings to be called in each injured town, and measures be inaugurated to secure general and equitable help? Let all the people say so?

FARMERS' EXCURSION TO AROOSTOOK. In accordance with the vote of the Maine Board of Agriculture, passed at this session, accepting the invitation of the North Aroostook Agricultural Society and Aroostook Farmers' Association to hold its next session in that county, the semi-annual meeting of the Maine Board of Agriculture embracing also a public farmers' convention, will be held at Johnson Hall, Presque Isle, on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 25th and 26th, 1878. The meetings of the Convention are free and open to all farmers, who are invited to be present and to take part in the discussion of the subjects that are to be presented. The programme for the occasion will consist of the following papers and discussions, which will have special reference to the agricultural capabilities and needs of Aroostook county: Stock raising, paper by Hall C. Burleigh of Fairfield, the discussion following it to be opened by Dr. A. R. Lincoln, of Dennysville; Dairying paper by J. R. Nelson, of Winthrop, discussion opened by S. T. Floyd, of Winthrop; best methods of retaining the fertility of the virgin soil, paper by Dr. Charles F. Allen, President of the State College, discussion opened by S. Ellwreth, of Manchester; Sheep Husbandry, paper by George Flint, discussion opened by D. J. Briggs, of South Turner; Field crops, paper by D. M. Denham, discussion opened by Horace Bodwell, of Acton. Members and ex-members of the Board of Agriculture and all farmers who intend to join the excursion, will meet in Bangor on Monday evening, Sept. 23, and will quarter at the Penobscot Exchange, where rooms have been secured. In addition to the members of the Board above announced who are to address the convention, prominent gentlemen are to be present who will assist in the work of the meeting, among them Prof. J. R. Farrington, of the State College of Agriculture at Orono, and Mr. Gennert, Superintendent of the Maine Beet Sugar Company, Portland. It is possible that gentlemen not announced will address the Convention, if time should admit, and all farmers are earnestly invited to take part in the discussions.

PENOBSCOT AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Last Day of the Fair—The Races.

The mud having dried up considerably and the sun put in an occasional appearance, the attendance yesterday was considerably larger than before. A large number of entries of stock and articles at the grounds has been published in these columns, while we continue here the list of those not mentioned before: Mrs. S. Bullen of Bradley exhibits two hearth rugs with ornamental centre-pieces in raised worsted work; Mrs. John Morgan of Orono, one large rug with a tiger and landscape for centre-piece; Mrs. A. B. Haskell of Garland, soft pillow, tidy and toilet set; Mrs. Geo. Curtis of Brewer one tidy; Miss Abbie Bullen two tidies; Mrs. A. B. Sutton, Orono, toilet set and pillow shams; Mrs. W. L. Brown, Orono, lamp mats, tidies and slipper patterns; Miss Nettie Brown, spatter-work; Mrs. S. A. Clapp, Eddington, one pair of fox-and-geese mittens; G. W. Neal, Orono, carpenters' and other tools consisting of axes, pincersons, chisels, screw-drivers, putty knife, hatchook, driving corks and scratch awl; Wm. Harper, Bangor File Works, exh bited files flat, square, round, three-cornered, half-round and and other files and rasps; Mr. E. Mansfield, Orono, chisels, axes, marking-irons, pincersons, screw-drivers and other mechanical tools.

Mrs. Bullen, Bradley, one jar of butter; exhibitor unknown, three jars of butter; Garland cheese factory, by W. L. Oak, four large cheeses; Mrs. S. A. Clapp, Eddington, box of butter; Eben Webster, dish of Smith's Orleans plums; Maud Webster, cakes of simple sugar made by herself.

Mr. O. Rogers, of Upper Stillwater, has on exhibition at the Park grounds the following animals of horse-blood Short Horn stock, viz: One bull two years old "Duke of Oxford," one cow "White Fish," one cow "Kitty," one cow "Tulip 4th," two yearling heifers "Daisy" and "White Pink 2d," also one full blood Lincolnshire buck four years old, and four May lambs of same breed. Wm. A. Wood, mower and rake.

THE RACES.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was rather unpropitious the announcement that "Anodyne" and "Bay" of Waterville, were to start in the free for all purse, caused quite a number of our citizens to congregate at the Orono Trotting Park, and at the appointed hour, the attendance was quite large. The track was very heavy, and several light showers in the early part of the afternoon made it decidedly muddy. After some delay, Mr. Jennings decided that as Anodyne was to trot at the State Fair, and as the track was getting harder every minute, it would not be wise to start him, and consequently he was sent back to the city.

This caused considerable disappointment, as many people had gone to the park expressly to see this race; but all waited to witness the trotting in the 2.40 and 3 minute classes.

3 MINUTE CLASS.

The following horses were started in the race.

Eastman, b. g. Van Ambrough	1 1 1
Fifield, s. g. Kenworth	2 2 2
Crockett, b. m. Lizzie	3 3 3

Time, 2.42, 2.41, 2.43.

This race was quite interesting as the horses were well together most of the time, and when they came under the wire at the close of the second heat one blanket would have covered them all.

2.40 CLASS.

In the 2.40 class the following horses were started:

Gibbs, br. m. Jessie	1 1
Hartshorn, b. s. Alex	2 2
Dimon, b. g. Hogan	3 3

Time, 2.37, 2.37.

As several showers occurred during the race the track was in a fearful condition which accounts for the slow time. It is to be regretted that the weather has been so unfavorable, as the Trustees had made there arrangements for a fine exhibition and many people who would otherwise have been present were kept away by the rain.

The Semi-Annual Excursion.

PRESQUE ISLE, Sept. 12th.

Mr. Editor: Wednesday morning after an early breakfast the "Press gang" left Houlton by a special and went around to Woodstock, where a special on the narrow gauge and a half that gauge New Brunswick Railway awaited the party. As some time had been lost in getting away from Houlton, and the conductor of the special was aware of the propensities of the party, he gave his little iron horse a free rein and sent the company bowling over the smooth road at a thirty mile pace so as to be in season for the hot dinner at Fort Fairfield. The route introduced the company to the beauties of the upper St. John river and the opening picturesque beauty of the valley of its Aroostook tributary, and elicited continuous expressions of delight.

At Fort Fairfield the party was taken in charge by the public spirited citizens and distributed among their homes of comfort and hospitality. After dinner they were taken in carriages out on the various roads to witness the agricultural outlook of the neighborhood and the abundant evidences of the thrift of the people, while the drive along the banks of the Aroostook afforded for miles a landscape of uninterrupted and picturesque beauty.

The hamlet of twenty years ago has become an extended village, with numerous stores, churches, school-houses and industrial establishments. A large starch factory is in active operation, which makes a quick market for the plentiful potato crop, and daily reduces thousands of bushels to the starch used at the Newston and other cotton factories. The capacity of this factory is about ten thousand pounds daily. There is another starch factory at Maple Grove, one of the suburbs of the town, three miles from the village.

Four or five large stores are in progress and nearly completed. One block of two stores has just been erected by John B. Trafton, Esq., the upper story of which is finished as a public hall with ample and convenient ante rooms, to adapt it to the requirements of the people. This hall was completely filled in the evening for the reception of the visiting party. The Cornet Band, of the town was present. E. A. Lynde, of the Aroostook Valley Sunrise, the local paper, called the meeting to order. John B. Trafton, Esq., made the address of welcome, after which the veteran visitors and other members of the press spoke of the notable and gratifying indications of progress in the town and its assumed prospects future. Music and dance occupied the evening's entertainment.

The weather this morning was damp, but by noon the party was on its way to Presque Isle, arriving in season for dinner, as the guests of the citizens. The ride of eleven miles showed many splendid farms. The Cattle Show and Fair of the North Aroostook Agricultural Society was in progress, and in spite of the drizzle there was a large gathering at the Park and a fine display of the animal and vegetable productions of the vicinage. Another reception took place in the evening at Johnson's Hall, of a similar character to that at Fort Fairfield. To-morrow will be a continuation of the Fair, and in the afternoon the editorial party will be taken over to the rival, flourishing town of Caribou, as the guests of that beautiful place. Thence by various routes the party will circulate about these upper regions and in due time be returned to their respective homes.
